2026-2027 HEALTH PROFESSIONS STUDENT LOAN (HPSL) APPLICATION

The Health Professions Student Loan (HPSL) is a low-interest, long-term federal loan administered by the Department of Health and Human Services (not the Department of Education). It is a need-based award available to students enrolled in eligible health profession majors. HHS requires that parent income and assets information be turned in for all students, including independent students and graduate students. This requirement cannot be waived. In cases where the parents refuse to provide income information, an affidavit documenting such a refusal cannot be accepted in lieu of the required information. Unless the parents are deceased, a student who does not provide parental income information will not be eligible for HPSL funds.

Loan Terms: The interest rate on the HPSL is 5%. The borrower will not be responsible for any interest until the start of the repayment period. Repayment begins 12 months after program completion or termination of full-time enrollment. The amount awarded will be determined by fund availability and number of qualified applicants.
